

Can the bank withdraw my loan after granting it and before the mortgage bond is registered?

Yes. If you, for example, incur more debt after the loan has been granted before the mortgage bond is registered, the bank might decide to withdraw the loan. Also, if there has been a negative change in your credit record, for example, where you failed to pay any debt instalment, the bank might also cancel your loan.

Volker Krüger