

How is a maintenance claim calculated?

The means and needs of both the Plaintiff and the Defendant are compared.

Means are calculated by deducting all necessary expenses from income.

Needs depend on the applicable standard of living and on the circumstances of each case, for ex. food, clothes, housing, water and electricity, school fees etc.